two had en dark coats; it was mear 10 o'clock at right.

Robert Ray was then called to the stand. He said:
I live in Tenth avenue, corner of Twenty first street; witness heard the cry of "murder;" he was in his room; he raised up his window and looked out; saw three joung men running down tenth avenue toward Twentieth street; one was behind the other two; the coe behind was the largest of the three; he was dressed in a drab coat and dark colored pants; one absend had on a giazed cap; wilness saw a man lying on the street; he had fallen before witness saw him; he was lying on the side walk; witness went out immediately; the percon lying there was quite dead when witness came to him; it was about five minutes between the sime when witness heard the cry of murder and when he reached the dead body of Mr. Swanzon; the last of the bays who were running ran fastest; the body was lying on the east side of the street; the body was lying on the sast side of the street; the body was lying on the sast side of the street; the body was lying on the sast side of the street; the body was lying as the boy was passing it; he also had on a cap.

David Cunnumpham, one of the three boys alluded was running behind had on a light drab cost; witness eaw it by a lamp as the boy was passing it; he also had on a cap.

Daniel Cunnungham, one of the three boys alluded to in connection with this murder, and who volunteered State's evidence, was thee put upon the wit most he Tenth avenue, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth aftreets; he had known the prisoner about two weeks before the affray; the affray was on Saturday night; he saw the prisoner on the night in question coming up Seventeenth atreet, and going toward Eighth avenue; the other boy, McGilney, was with prisoner; Rodgers had on a light drab coat, like a fireman's coat; he also had a cap; Rodgers is the stoutest of the three boys; the first met prisoner about 8 o'clock in the evening; accused asked witness to go along and have a drink; they went down to Seventeenth street between Eighth and Nieth avenues, and had a g'ass beer; remained there about five minutes; they then went up Eighth avenue to Twenty-first street; they stopped there from five to ten minutes; they then went to Twenty-fourth street, from there down to Nieth avenue, thence to Twenty-fifth street, and got another glass of beer; staid there about five minutes, and then went down Twenty-sixth street to Tenth avenue; Rodgers wanted to go down Twenty-sixth street; the other boy wouldn't go; they then turned round and went to Twenty-sixth street to Tenth avenue; Rodgers wanted to go down Twenty-sixth street; the other boy wouldn't go; they then turned round and went to Twenty-second street, and met a boy; Rogers asked the boy for a piece of an apple; the boy refused and fired the apple at Rodgers; prisoner then turned back and ran after the boy; then the three boys cane across and down Tenth avenue as far as Tweaty-first street; they were going toward the Ninth avenue; Rodgers was drunk; and withness, with the other boy wouldn't on the man to go on, to never mind, that Rodgers was drunk; the man made a crack at Rodgers made blows at the man; Rodgers were clinched; Rodgers made blows at the ma town; witness and the other boy went down the avenue; witness did not see Rodgers after that till he saw him in the Tombe; it was mait beer that we drank; prisoner must have had several glasses, witness said, before he saw him on the night of the assault; didn't see Rodgers next day; witness is sixteen years old, he identified Rodgers in court; witness was arrested on Tue-day moraing after the murder; he here for what he was arrested; a policeman told him he would not be prosecuted if he would come forward and testify; he told witness he must tell the furth; witness had on at the time of the affray a black velvet cap and dark clothes; McGifasy had on a cloth cap; witness did not hear of the death of Swanson till the Sunday moraing following the assault; witness did not say, "We killed that man;" the man that was killed made the first blow; the man raid, "What did you do that for?" referring to the puscing; the other boy then said, "Excuse him (Rodgers)—he is drunk"; after the man made a pass at Rodgers, the latter struck back; several blows passed; Rodgers had no knife; witness had been a waiter in a salcon, and worked in a cracker bakery; Rodgers was so drunk he could hardly walk; we were trying to get him home; we were dragging him along; saw several blows pass; witness is sure he was not followed down the avenue by Rodgers.

Clarkson S. Dunning, being sworn, said—I live at No. 169 Tenth avenue, on the North River side; I heard the cry of murder; witness was at the front part of his house, and had raised the window; his attention was attracted in the direction of the cry of murder; he saw a man and woman, and three young men or boys; the woman had a basket and the man a lantern; the

of his house, and had raised the window; his attention was attracted in the direction of the cry of murder; he saw a man and woman, and three young men or boys; the woman had a basket and the man a lantern; the lantern was not lighted; the three boys had passed down the avenue, opposite the house of witness; they were on the east side of the avenue; one appeared to be larger than the other two; the largest was dressed with a dirty looking drab coat, dark pants and red shirt; the boys were then about seven or eight steps from the man and weman; the latter were turning into the Tenth avenue; at the cry of murder these were all parties in the street at the time; after the cry witness observed the tallest boy nearest the deceased; the others were passing down the street; witness heard them say, "Don't meddle with the man;" the boys dressed in dark clothes then passed down the avenue, and witness lost sight of them; the largest was a few steps behind the others; witness saw the man fall; deceased went 20 or 25 feet before the cry of murder; witness did not discover signs of intoxication in the boys; the tallest boy first acted as if going up the avenue, but witness thinks he soon turned and went down. On cross-examination, witness said—I could distinguish them quite clearly; immediately after the boys passed the window of witness, he heard the cry of murder; it was within a minute; witness could see the motion of Rodgers's hand and then heard the cry of murder; it was within a minute; witness could see the motion of Rodgers's hand and then heard the cry of murder.

motion of Rodgers's hand and then heard the ory of murder.

David Scott, an apprentice boy, was then sworn—He said he heard the cry of murder; he had seen the boys about ten minutes before it; the largest one had a diab coat on, a red shirt, a black cap, and dark pants; saw Rodgers trying to got something out of his pocket; eaw about an inch of the handle of a knife; this was about seven or eight minutes before the cry of murder; prisoner had hold of the knife-bandle with his hand in his pocket; he then took his hand out and run after witness (this witness is the boy who refused Rodgers the apple).

On cross-examination, witness said this occurred on the corner of Twenty-second street and Tenth avecaue; Rodgers dared witness to come out of a store, and ran back and forth lafter witness several times; it was a gray-handled knife; didn't see the blade; saw about an inch of the handle; was a pretty large handle; accused talked as if he was a little drunk.

The District-Attorney here closed the case for today, and remarked that he should finish for the prosecution at an early hour to-morrow. The further hearing of the cause was then adjourned to 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

After the opening of Court this morning, James cution at an early hour to-morrow. The further hearing of the canee was then adjourned to II o'clock to-morrow morning.

After the opening of Court this morning, James Ware was placed at the bar for trial, indicated for burglary in the third degree. The burglary was alleged to have been committed upon the premises of Kirk & Compily, Nos. 233 and 255 Front street, on the Sist of October last. The accused was charged with breaking into the aforesaid premises, and stealing therefrom two tubes of lard, of the alleged value of $14. The fact that a burglary had been committed and lard stolen was conclusively shown by the witnesses for the prosecution. Is real Higgius, of the Fourth Ward Poline, testified that he arrested the prisoner shout two blooks from the above named establishment, on the night in question; it was between 10 and 11 o'clock; prisoner was passing along with a tub of lard in his possession; accused pretended to be carrying it a short distance for a man who had agreed to give him 50 cens for the service; witness found a second tub of lard secreted between Front and Water streets, in a little yard, covered up with hay and a fraw, and a box on top. Both these tubs were quite clearly identified as the property of the complainant, and that they were in his establishment as late as 5 o'clock, just preceding the night when they were taken, when the premises were closed by the porter. But there was no evidence directly connecting the accused with the commission of the burglary. He had not been seen near the premises on which the felony was committed. The defense adduced prefly strong testimony to his good character previous to this charge being preferred. EXAMISATION OF PARTIES TO A SUIT.

Deshier, &c. agt. Willett, &c.

Section 339 of the Code, as amended by the act of the 13th April, 1857, allows a party to be "examined as a witters in the own behalf the same as any other witness." Honce he may be examined by any mode by which any witness may be examined, upon any exigency which admits of an examination of a witness otherwise than at the trial. If a resident of another State, he may be examined on commission. The fact that the Code provides for an examination of one party (if a non-resident) by commission, when the other has given notice of an intention to be examined, does not exclude the right to so examine in any other case. In the latter case, the right results from the recognized of such a notice, although no examination has taken place, and enables the party receiving the notice to prepare to meet the testimony which may be given under such notice. When no cuch notice has been given, either puty wishing to be examined is the moving party as to this proceeding, and may proceed to examine himself, previded that in all case the preceived notice of ten days has been given.

THURSDAY, Nov. 12-P. x Movements in the Stock market grow more interesting. Transactions are larger, and it is evident that outsiders have been attracted to some extent, and now participate in the operations. The rise has been almost uninterrupted, or at least without material check for ten days, and the market has shown much greater resisting power and strength than was generally expected—considering the universal derangement in busi-ness affairs, the lingering severity in Money matters. and the almost entire lack of confidence in the safety or stability of Stock investments. An improvement in State Securities, and a moderate advance in Values throughout the list, would have been more in soordence with the gradual restoration which e going on in other matters; but the up-ward impulses of the Stock market have been at a pace more rapid than circumstances appear to warrant, accelerated as they have been by a few leading spirite at the Stock Exchange. The margin for advance is doubtless wide, but the breach between *x'reme points of depression and prices ruling before the crash and downfall took place, cannot be closed in a brief space of time. Nor are we so free from trouble that we can throw off caution and restraint, and launch fearlessly out upon the sea of speculation. We are to suffer from the effects of angunmitigated pressure; of a whirlwind which has swept away fortunes and credits with a single blast, and it must take menths to clear up the wreck, and to set the machinery of business fairly in motion again.

The effects of wide-spread disaster in the ranks of American markets is yet to be seen upon the other side of the water, and the effects also of the failure of three or four of our prominent Railway Companies, in which foreign capital has been largely invested, has yet to be learned. There was no doubt in England and France, at the date of last advices, a fair understanding of difficulties here, but the extent and severity of the panic could not have been realized. Hence it is to be apprehended that improvement in the share market is progressing more rapidly than is consistent with a healthy restoration, and that an unpleasant reaction may follow these premature advances. There action may follow these premature advances. There was nothing, however, in operations of the day to moderate a cheek in the rising tide, unless a slight feeling of dullness at close of the Second Board may be called a symptom of reaction.

At the First Board the movement in New-York Central was especially active and vigorous, supported by the same party to whose efforts the rise is mainly to be attributed. One leading operator bought stock on sellers option, freely, at 71, and bid 72½, b60, for 1,000 shares. The closing sale after the Second Board was 250 shares at 72½, seller 10. Reading was in fair request, selling up to 37½. The Toledo went to 36, and between Boards sold as high as 36½. Erie sold at 15½, but was not active, closing at 14%. A small lot of Michigan Southern (old) sold at 17%, and the Preferred touched 37%. Galena advanced to 72 and Rock Island to 712. Cleveland and Pittsburgh, which has been very quiet of late, also caught the infection of the upward movement and went up to 131 Michigan Central sold up to 55. Cumberland Coal, Ls Crosse and Milwankee and Mississippi, were also higher. Trans actions were in fact liberally distributed through the list-not extensive in any single stock, but all moving in one direction, and with no opposition worthy of notice.

Bond sales were not large. Prices were fair, but without material change.

At the Second Board prices were higher in some instances, but at the close calibited less strongth, and most of the leading stocks were offered freely at last quotations. New-York Central shows an advance of 11 & cent during the day, closing at 721; Toledo 11; Reading 11; Erie 1; Michigan Southern 1; Preferred do. 11; Illinois Central 11; Cleveland and Pittsburgh 14; Galena 3; Rock Island 3; La Crosse 4; Milwaukee and Mississippi 2; Cumberland 12; Panama 4.

After the Second Board, there was more disposition to sell, and stocks were offered at a slight concession, but upon the whole, the characteristic of the market was dullness rather than depression.

In Exchange there is nothing of importance doing, ard rates are unchanged. Sterling ranges from 107 to 108] for good and leading signatures, with document bills as low as 100 2105. France, 5 30 25.15. The supply of bills is considerable. Freights continue dull, with small offerings. To

Liverpool the engagements are 18,000 bush. Grain at 9d., Cotton at 5-32d, @3-16d. To London-500 boxes Cheese at 35s. To Glasgow-250 bbls. of Oil at 35s, 23 000 bush. Grain at 10d., 500 bbls. Flour at 2s. 4]d. A bark for Cork and a market with Molasses at 5c. gallon. A Danish brig for a direct port in the English Channel with Grain at 12d.

Tre business of the Sub-Treasury was: Receipts, $48,820 06-$43,000 from customs; payments, $57,456 04-$5,600 California drafts; balance, $5,263,

Private dispatches to-day quote Cotton at New-Orleans dull at 12c., and that large English orders have been countermanded by the last steamer. The first and second Mortgage Bonds of the Harlem Railroad have fallen off lately under an impression that the act authorizing their issue expressly provides that the rights of the preferred stockholders should not be impaired there'vy, and that, consequently, the payment of dividends upon the stock had precedence over interest on the Bonds. The act referred to as sustaining this position was passed in 1849, and authorized an increase of the capital stock of the Company to $5,000,000, "to be issued at such times and in such manter," &c., as the Directors might prescribe; "and in the mean time" the Company were authorized to borrow money, and if necessary mortgage the road to secure the payment of the loans, "provided, however, that nothing in this act contained shall be held or construed to affect or impair the covenants and agree-ments for the issue of $1,500,000 of Preferred Stocks."

The Mortgage Bonds, however, were not issued under this act, but under one passed subsequently in 1852, which simply authorizes, without any restriction, the Company to borrow money and "secure the payment of the loans hereby authorized, by mortgage of any part of their real or personal estate, as the Board of Directors may deem expedient." The legal question is whether the restriction in the act het of that city:

"The Money market contiense increasing in ease. Most of the good paper offered at bank meets acceptance. Capitalists are more inclined to invest, and first class notes are negotiated on the street, at 1 214 to 11 2 cent a month. Second class 21 to 3 2 cent. Money on call abundant at 1 to 1 2 cent a month. The indications that specie will again be exported to a considerable extent have tightened exchanges somewhat, and rates are slightly upward. We quote exchange on New-York at 31 2 4 2 cent premium; Beston do. 4; and Philadelphia do. 14 2 cent premium in Beltimore funds. Geld 3231 2 cent premium in Beltimore funds. Geld 3231 2 cent premium to do. 426 2 cent decount. North Carolira do. 426 2 cent do. Notes of Ohio and other Western banks 327 2 cent discount." of 1849 in regard to the rights of the preferred shareholders, and which act remains unrepealed, is binding on the mortgage made under the act of 1852, which centained no such restriction. The views of some of the leading legal gentlemen of the city have been asked upon this subject, and they have given the opin-ien that the act of 1849 is in full force, and the restric-tion is binding; but, on the other hand, Mr. D sniel Lord, and Mr. Charles W. Sandford, in an opinion given in 1854, expressly assert the authority of the Company to issue mortgage bonds. Without undertaking to express an opinion upon a question about which such very learned doctors disagree, we annex which such very learned doctors disagree, we annex the opinion alluded to.

"We have examined the acts of the Legislature in relation to the Harlem Railroad Company, the General Railroad law, and the agreement as to the issue of preferred stock, under the act of March 29, 1848, and are of the opinion that the Directors of the said Company can lawfully issue bonds, and secure the same by a second mortgage, as proposed in the resolution of Aug. 2, 1854, for the purpose of meeting any existing just claims upon the Company.

"Generally, a corporate body may contract debts for the accomplishment of the purposes of the corporation; and it also may incur liabilities in the course of its business, not merely for services and acquisitious coming to its benefit, but for injuries to others by the acts of these for whom it is responsible. And these liabilities are not by any general principle of law limited to the amount of its capital. (See Barry vs The Mer. Exch. Co., I Sandf. Rep. (ch.) 280, and cases cited.)

"For the liabilities thus assumed, or incurred, all the property of the corporation may be su jusced by due process of law. And where this may be compelled, there who have the management of the Company may voluntarily articipate it by a morigage; and it is within the same principle that they may raise money by morigage and by bond to meet or provide for the same things.

"And the obligations of the Company duly executed are presumptive evidence of their being lawfully issued. 2 Paige R. 60: also See 1, Selden R. 355.

'The agreement as to the preferred stock, in the ninth clause, provides that the entire receipts of the road shall be appropriated to the payment—1. Of current charges: 2, Of interest on outstanding debts, if any; 3, Of dividends on preferred stock; 4. To dividende on other stock. But authority is reserved to the Directors to make such expenditures from time to time as the exigencies and the proper management of the business of the Cempany may, in their judgment, require.

"This reservation indeed would be necessarily im-

"This reservation indeed would be necessarily im-"This reservation indeed would be necessarily implied if it had not been expressed; since from the very nature of stock, preferred as well as other, the only fund legally applicable to dividends on it is the surplus of its earning and property after payment of its just debts. And if the outstanding debts or liabilities of the Company can, in the judgment of the Directors, be more properly managed by funding, by the way of a permanent debt represented by bonds and mortgage, it may be thus arranged, not only by virtue of the general powers of the Company, but of this express reservation.

"Bellewing the issue of bonds secured by a mortgage to be fully warranted on the general and intrinsic capacity of the corporation, it may be added that by the 28, 105 Sections of the General Railroad act, and also by the 2d Sections of the act of April 6, 1852, Sec. 75, ch. 152, p. 198, bonds and mortgages for the purposes of the corporation are fully warranted.

"CHAS. W. SANDFORD."

Money is more plentiful on paper and secarities

Morey is more plentiful on paper and securities which come up to the high standard adopted by lead-ers; but there is no decided change in the character of the market so far as less acceptable paper is concerned. On call or short notice, with hypothecation of State and other very leading securities, we hear of offerings to strong houses as low as 5 and even 4 to cent per annum; but restricted business and a desire to avoid new engagements renders the employment of capital quite difficult in this way, the position of matters being, in point of fact that those who do not want are able to borrow with ease, while those who really need norey find great difficulty in borrowing. Strong, thoroughly tested paper sells readily at from 12 to 18 P cent; beyond this select circle, discount rates take a wide range, varying from 2 to 3 & cent per monthfigures which amount to about the same as prohibition.

At an election held on the 10th inst., the following named gentlemen were chosen Directors of the Nassau Bank for the ensuing year: H. Blydenbergh, Jas. C. Bell, Cha. T. Cromwell, Win. E. Dean, Nathaniel Gilman, David Jones, Lewis-Jennings, James S. Libby, Luther S. Lawrence, Wm. Miles, Addington Reed, Augustine Swith, Edmund Thompson, Eace Richardson, Charles G. Harmer. At a meeting of the Beard, Hamilton Blydenburgh, esq , was unanimously reelected President.

A preliminary meeting of some members of the Clearing-House was held to-day, at the Merchants' Bank, but no action was taken. The question of resumption was discussed, and one or two banks advocated immediate resumption, but this is opposed to the policy of a large portion of our banks. A meeting of the Clearing House is to be held on Saturday evening, when the views of the managers of our banking insti tutions will be intercharged upon this and such other subjects as may come before them. The subject of the State currency which has accumulated here, is an embarrassing one. It promises to be a somewhat difficult task to fix where the loss is to fall, if there should be any, on the seven or eight millions of this currercy now held. Some of the banks, which have received but small amounts of the State money, feel restive under the programme of assessing this loss pro rata, according to capital, and others are getting rid as far as possible of their State money and Metropolitan certificates, in anticipation of the possible result of the attempt to make the country banks resume redemptions as here-tofore at the Metropositan. Such banks as do not make redemption arrangements with that institution, will be thicwn out by the city banks and left to the mercies of the uncurrent money brokers. There has been a suggestion thrown out that the certificates representing the State money in the Metropolitan Bank, shall be divided on the 1st December, when interests commences on them, pro rata among the banks according to their several deposit lines, and that the amounts ge into the leans and discounts. This, however, is not satisfactory to some of the banks with large lines of deposits, and they will esist its adoption. Altogether the question presents many practical difficulties which will require much wisdom and deliberation to unravel. There is a less active demand for bullion, but the premium is unchanged, $2 } $\tilde{\pi}$ cent.

At Phi adelphia The Ledger says:

"There is not however, much movement yet in the Money market. Nearly all the lending is done by the backs, and very little by them. Should country bankmotes be generally refused on deposit here, as now seems probable, the banks will do still less, and the street brokers more, until the country paper is forced home preparatory to resumption. The difference between paper and gold is now only about 32.34 & cent; and as between paper and silver, 24.23. The Cincinnots Gazette says:

"The money market exhibited no new feature of importance on Saturday Business generally emittuded dull. Money is gradually accumulating, and as the supply increases, and confidence gathers strength, borrowers find it less difficult to obtain accommodations. The discount lines, however, are still tightly drawn, and a very high standard is maintained; but two points have already been gained, viz: a partial recetablishment of confidence, and a fair supply of money. The latter must continue to increase and the former is progressing steadily in the right direction.

"The improvement of which these features afford satisfactory evidence must soon lead to the adoption of a lower standard for names at the discount bousses. It will not pay to keep money unemployed, and the accumulation of currency will therefore create a demand for paper, that will very soon cover the usual range of business. The Ohio. Indiana and Kentucky banks have withdrawn not far from eight millions of their circulation since the failure of the Trust Company. This, as soon as exchange settles down to the low point, toward which it is now tending, will be reissued. The supply of money in the country awaiting a market is very large, and it cannot fail, when put into use, as it must be, to produce a plethora of capital."
